

Ever Consider....

how many people it takes to "write" this newspaper—how many pens have a part in shaping its contents? One part of this great staff of writers is ever changing in its personnel day by day—those who write the "want ads." in the paper; so that in some of these ads. you see the practiced writer, and in others the "first efforts" of people to write for publication.

Like Finding Money. The People's Drug Co. and King's Pharmacy Offer Popular Medicine at Half-Price.

The People's Drug Co. and King's pharmacy, the popular druggists, are making an offer that is just like finding money, for they are selling a regular 50 cent bottle of Dr. Howard's celebrated specific for the cure of constipation and dyspepsia at half-price. In addition to this large discount they agree to return the money to any purchaser whom the specific does not cure.

It is quite unusual to be able to buy fifty-cent pieces for a quarter, but that is what this offer really means, for it is only recently, through the solicitation of the People's Drug Co. and King's Pharmacy that this medicine could be bought for less than fifty cents, they urged the proprietors to allow them to sell it at this reduced price for a little while, agreeing to sell a certain amount. The result has justified their good judgment, for the sale has been something remarkable.

Anyone who suffers with headache, dyspepsia, dizziness, sour stomach, specks before the eyes, or any liver trouble, should take advantage of this opportunity, for Dr. Howard's specific will cure all these troubles. But if by any chance it should not, the People's Drug Co. and King's Pharmacy will return your money.

...Forty Years Ago...

Janesville Daily Gazette, Monday, June 20, 1861.—In Trouble.—A fellow in this city who goes by the name of "Glue" has come to grief on the great charge of making indecent exposure of his person. He was arrested and when the trial came off this morning, he became quite boisterous, charging the witness with lying, etc. The judge sent him to the county hotel to board until tomorrow morning.

Arrested.—Several busy boys, varying in age from 10 to 15 years were arrested this morning for stealing some firecrackers, etc., out of some Chicago & North-Western freight cars yesterday (Sunday). It is time that an example is made of some of these juvenile offenders who let no opportunity pass in which they can exercise their thieving propensities.

Accidental Drowning.—Daniel O'Connor, only son of John O'Connor of this city, was drowned at Freeport yesterday morning while in bathing. He was a young man of good habits, and the only support of his aged parents. He had been employed as brakeman on the Galena road for the last eighteen months. His body was recovered and reached this city at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

Shower in Rock County.—At Evansville, Shopiere, Center, Beloit, and we presume many other places in this county there was refreshing showers yesterday, which will go a long way toward making good crops in those popular localities. In this immediate vicinity we had but a slight sprinkle only, not enough to lay the dust thoroughly, and consequently to light to benefit vegetation any. We are waiting and watching for rain.

Spring is the Seed Time of Disease.—All who are suffering from indisposition to think, languor, fatigue, after walking palpitation of the heart, distress after eating, heartburn, dizziness and nervous headache, and a number of other afflictions of this class, rendering a person unfit for the society of his friends of the world, we say take the Red Jacket Summer Bitters, sold by all druggists throughout the country.

Drives away sickness, sorrow and care. Makes the beggar man a millionaire. Makes the heart grow strong and true. That's what Rocky Mountain Tea will do. Smith Drug Co.

OUR FOREIGN TROUBLES.

While Russia is fighting the brave little Japs for supremacy of the east, Uncle Sam has a little matter in Tangiers of his own to battle. It is not more than a hundred years ago that Uncle Sam first sailed into the harbor of Tangiers and demanded that the Sultan stop his persecution of American ships. The Sultan was surprised at the audacity of such a demand but a few experiences with the guns of the baby nation's ships changed his opinion and he was glad to recognize that the patchwork flag with thirteen bars and a few pretty stars on a field of blue was worthy of due recognition which he accorded to other nations. Now Uncle Sam is again troubled by a descendant of this same Sultan. He has evidently forgotten the lesson taught years ago by brave men. However, Uncle Sam can now better enforce its demands and when it requests nations usually jump to grant the request.

RIGHT SIDE UP.

The republican party of Wisconsin is right side up with care. Rough handling by game wardens and imported fags at the Armory convention failed to impress the national committee that the conservatives who left the Armory hall disgusted were not the only true republicans of the state. The petard which hoisted La Follette was of his own making. The plain statement of facts together with the revolutionary despot speeches of the Governor all but helped to do the business. It was not the Governor's organ and the result is more far reaching than appears on the face of it. The papers of the state that had the bravery to place the Cook ticket at the head of their editorial columns made no mistake and whatever they are considered in the state they represent the republican party in the United States.

FIGHT IS ON.

From now on the fight is on. The chairman of the La Follette committee has set the date for the opening of their campaign as the 24th of the present month. He means to start matters as soon as possible. It will be a campaign never before seen in this state. It will be a fight from the time the gong rings for the opening round until the sponge is thrown up the fourth of next November. Nor will the La Follette men be the only aggressors. The republicans will force the fighting. They will not give one inch of the dearly bought ground and the victory which will perch on the Cook banner next November will be the result of a whirlwind campaign. No boys play but men hard and earnest work.

Lock your doors and windows securely tomorrow. While the Ringling is a first class show they can not always tell who all the people are who follow them from town to town and perhaps some of them are crooks and light fingered gentry.

If the common council does not look out that Court street bridge will settle the question of its stability without waiting for the new builders to appear next September.

Cortlyon will not be backward when the time comes and this talk of opposition to him is not opposition to the President but only a matter of expediency.

It is a bitter pill for the Free Press to swallow but that committee certainly did not read its fervid appeal for justice or they would not have done as they did.

Wisconsin will be true to its colors no matter whose ticket the national electors name appear under. Roosevelt of Bust.

Mr. Cook has found out that the convention that nominated him was not a rump one but the true blue republican one.

Citizens petition for a fire station in a certain place and the council decides it should go somewhere else.

Janesville to the fore seems to be the slogan these days. Politics business and other wise.

Rapid Waters was a trifle too slow at Chicago Saturday when the liquor question came up.

Two circuses and a none such Bros. parade all in one summer. Too much for one city to undergo.

It was a highball that won the Derby and many highball was drunk to the health of the winner.

Now is the time the ministers wife lays in her pocket money for the rest of the year.

There are just as many fish waiting to be caught as have ever snapped at a hook.

The Fourth of July comes soon and the sooner the better for the small boy.

Has anyone looked up the weather for the Fourth? Don't.

Janesville is now the headquarters of the state G. A. R.

These warm days make the lakes and rivers seem doubly attractive.

June weddings are just as popular this year as they ever were.

PRESS COMMENT.

Scranton Tribune: In addition to other attachments, Governor Peabody, of Colorado, appears to possess qualifications in the matter of long distance repartee.

Indianapolis News: It has been some time since we have heard from our old friend, the folding bed, but it closed in Minneapolis the other night with the usual results.

Kankana Sun: This is a bad year for machine politics. The strongest states in the different states are being smashed by the people.

Madison Journal: As the supreme court has disagreed with the tax commission, the latter will have something to think about during its summer vacation.

El Paso Herald: Some means of making the oil seep into the ground and stay there must be found before oil sprinkled streets will be a success in El Paso.

Monroe Sentinel: The exodus of school teachers began last Monday and there is a loneliness in home circles, an aching void, as it were, that will be hard to fill.

Madison Journal: It rather looks as though the union miners in Colorado are going to have to eat the crop of wild oats they planted.

Cincinnati Commercial Tribune: The Republican National Committee is disposed to advise the Wisconsin Republicans to flounder their own linen and do it quick. Good advice.

Superior Telegram: There is an agitation at Crookston for an ordinance prohibiting dancing, and that reminds us that possibly an ordinance to fumigate "knockers" might be a good thing for Superior.

Chicago Record-Herald: When James H. Eckels and Benjamin Cable cast their votes for Hearst at St. Louis it will only be shown in another way that you never can tell what may happen in politics.

Menasha Record: Some misguided brother is scolding because a congressman gets only $3000 while a certain baseballer gets $10,000. But he should remember that the latter furnishes amusement at least.

Grant County Herald: One of our citizens who held a hundred shares of oil stock in a Texas well recently received a check for thirty cents in liquidation of the amount of stock. This is about the size of all wild cat stock.

Chicago Inter Ocean: Again the man who tried to stop the electric fan with his fingers. "It is strange that each new summer has to teach the man with his fingers cannot successfully complete with the switch button."

Pon du Lac Commonwealth: Dowle may have been driven from London all right enough but sooner or later he will use that experience as an advertisement to draw new business. As an example of thriftiness Dowle easily leads the procession.

Whitewater Register: One of 1904's college graduates chose the following subject for his thesis: "Derivatives of Tetrahymorhobenzonulone." The czar's attention was called to it and forthwith the young man received an appointment to a lucrative position in his majesty's census bureau.

Oshkosh Observer: When the examination of Mr. Host is finished, a good many people will wonder how in thunder they could ever have been so foolish as to advocate the re-election of Gov. La Follette and his official plunderers.

Hudson Star-Times: It is safe to say Governor La Follette will not have any of his "athletic thugs" on the police force at the Chicago convention to beat him as a delegate, right or wrong. Nor will bogus tickets be issued for the avowed purpose of shutting out the friends or foes of any faction. There will be fair play in Teddy Roosevelt's party.

Merrill Advocate: The Milwaukee Daily News has wanted up its old trade friend, former president of the University of Wisconsin, John Bascom, and is once more happy. Bascom has always been, and as we note, is still opposed to the principle of the American system of protection. In his tariff ideas the former president is British free trader, like most all his British Democrats.

Waukesha Freeman: Some one has said that if people would cease to discuss the political situation in Wisconsin, and especially in newspapers would not refer to it and leave the matter to be settled by the courts, there would be a possibility of healing the breach in the ranks of Republicans. It is plain if that is the only way to close up and gap that it will never be closed. Almost any purpose could be accomplished in public affairs were it possible to control the tongues and pens of the populace.

Rice Lake Leader: The administration press of the state is now publishing insurance notices sent out by one Host, the insurance commissioner, to such papers as support the worst and most extravagant administration that ever cursed the state, not excepting Barstow and his forty thieves. It has cost the taxpayers over $1,000,000 per annum more than the expenditures for state purposes under Governor Scofield, taxes have been nearly doubled, and what has the republican party in the state to show for it? A half burnt and destroyed state capitol and a disrupted party.

Racine Journal: The national republican committee, however tempted to compromise our Wisconsin contest by dividing the vote between the contestants, will do far more beneficial service by deciding the matter one way or the other. In this connection the slurs being cast on prominent Republicans in the state favorable to the Puller opera house ticket, and the slightest references to the "national crowd" are not evidences of any willingness to abide by the decision of the only party authority.

Chicago Chronicle: Governor La Follette is a populist and socialistic firebrand, and as surely as the committee gives him any countenance he will make ducks and drakes of the republican party in Wisconsin. He and the stalwarts have all made haste to inform the committee that they will accept of no compromise and therefore the committee will do well to give heed to Senator Spooner and Quarles and decide against Governor La Follette's claims. He will be much more dangerous to the republicans as a member of the party than he will be as an open antagonist. It is unusual to offer advice in other people's family quarrels, but there are cases which appeal to everybody's sympathies so powerfully that it seems impossible not to utter a word or two of unprejudiced wisdom.

IF THE HOME—

Be so situated that little direct sunlight falls on it then the greater care must be taken to keep the children much out of doors.

The beneficent influence of sunshine is felt as swiftly and surely by human beings as by plants.

To build up children physically is as much a duty as to train them mentally, and sunshine helps in this.

The note of depression which an overtaxed mother sometimes suffers from, and which, in unfavorable reaction, her children feel, is apt to be banished and changed to cheerfulness where the house has a liberal share of sunshine.

Subtly interwoven and beyond our power to explain are our dependencies on the material universe, and aspirations for that purer and higher world which lies out of sight.

Forces Vagrants to Work.

There are few able-bodied paupers in Holland. A tract of public land containing 5,000 acres is divided into six model farms, to one of which the person applying for public relief is sent. Here he is taught agriculture, and is subsequently permitted to rent a small farm for himself. THE
SENTRY
BOX

A SAFETY VALVE.

This government is made up of U. S. common people, the large majority of whom own homes or farms and are tremendously interested in the continued prosperity and welfare of the country.

To all such, the tendency of the times towards social unrest and the usurpation of power by ignorant and irresponsible men rings like "an alarm bell at night," as Garfield said. The property owners and reputable, peaceable citizens must unite at the polls and elsewhere to keep down anarchy and those irresponsible who tend toward anarchy. This growth does not come from the farms or small towns, but from the very congested cities and industrial centers where great riches and extreme poverty are shown side by side.

In the effort of the discontented to obtain more money, they very naturally, when under the influence of strikes and loss of wages, turn to violence, and should this tendency be permitted to grow long enough, such discontented would obtain control of the legislative bodies and absolute ruin to property holders would result.

Mencius's prophecy regarding this country, written in 1857, is, the Sentry believes, worthy of consideration at this time.

"Your fate I believe to be certain, though it is deferred by a physical cause. As long as you have a boundless extent of fertile and unoccupied land, laboring population will be far more at ease than the laboring population of the old world, and while that is the case, the Jefferson politics may continue to exist without causing any fatal calamity. But the time will come when New England will be as thickly populated as Old England. Wages will be as low and will fluctuate as much with you as with us. You will have your Manchesters and your Birmingham, and in those Manchester and Birmingham hundreds of thousands of artisans will assuredly be sometimes out of work. Then your institutions will be fairly brought to the test.

"Distress everywhere makes the laborer mutinous and discontented and inclines him to listen with eagerness to agitators who tell him that it is a monstrous iniquity that one man should have a million while another cannot get a full meal. In bad years there is plenty of grumbling here, and sometimes a little rioting. But it matters little. The supreme sufferers are not the rulers. The supreme power is in the hands of a class numerous indeed, but select; of an educated class; of a class which is and knows itself to be deeply interested in the security of property and the maintenance of order. Accustomed to the manumissions are firmly yet gently restrained. The bad time is not over without robbing the wealthy to relieve the indigent. The springs of national prosperity soon begin to flow again; work is plentiful, wages rise and all is tranquility and cheerfulness.

"I have seen England pass three or four times through such critical seasons as I have described. Through such seasons the United States will have to pass in the course of the next century, if not in this. How will you pass through them? I heartily wish you a good deliverance. But my reason and my wishes are at war, and I cannot help foreboding the worst. It is quite plain that your government will never be able to restrain a distressed and discontented majority.

"The day will come when in the State of New York a multitude of people, none of whom have had more than half a breakfast, or expect to have more than half a dinner, will choose a legislature. It is possible to doubt what sort of legislature will be chosen? On one side is a statesman preaching patience, respect for vested rights, strict observance of public faith. On the other is a demagogue ranting about the tyranny of capitalists and usurers, and asking why anybody should be permitted to drink champagne and to ride in a carriage when thousands of honest folk are in want of necessities. Which of the two candidates is likely to be preferred by a working man who hears his children cry for more bread?

"I seriously apprehend that you will, in some such selfish delusion, which will prevent prosperity from returning; that you will not let people who should in a year of scarcity devour all the seed-corn and thus make the next year, not of scarcity, but of absolute famine. There will be, I fear, spoliation. The distress will produce fresh spoliation. There is nothing to stop you. Your constitution is all sail and no anchor."

The Sentry cannot agree with part of this prophecy, that "it is quite plain that your government will never be able to restrain the distressed and discontented majority." In this country the majority is not distressed. The people realize that they make up the government and control it. They must, for their own protection, prevent those who seek to force their ideas by violence from carrying out their brutal destruction. The easiest way to keep people contented is to provide work for all, at a living wage. Many workers flock to the cities and join the masses of grimy workmen, forgetting that there is a livelihood to be made in country towns and on farms, in peace and with an assurance of an amount of prosperity dependent only upon the man's personal efforts and ability. The Sentry believes that one of the most feasible solutions of the whole problem is for the government to inaugurate a liberal plan of government improvements, build plenty of government buildings, bridges, new docks, even government railroad, anything needed by the people for their betterment, and that will occupy the energies of the unemployed in times of depression. A hungry man with a hungry family is an unsafe citizen. To be sure, he may have brought his trouble upon himself by idleness under strikes, but there should be some relief for him and some outlet, some safety-valve, for this excess pressure of labor. If the unemployed workman could turn government employe on railroads, docks or buildings, even at a less rate of wage, to tide him over the dull season, it would have a tendency to keep him peaceable and a reputable citizen. It would be vastly better and more economical for the United States government to expend its surplus money in this way than in the maintenance of troops to force the unemployed to remain peaceable. These facts stare us in the face and should have the thought and attention of every citizen.

AGRICULTURAL BULLETIN

The U. S. department of Agriculture will soon issue Bulletin No. 145, of the office of experiment stations, describing methods of preparing land for irrigation and applying water to crops in different sections of the arid region of the United States. In the bulletin the methods of setting ridges, sagebrush, smoothing the ground, building laterals, and distributing water over fields as developed by the experience of farmers in irrigated districts are brought together and described. The tools and implements used are illustrated and the cost of the work, based upon actual examples in different states, is given. The purpose is to afford beginners a reliable guide both as to the cost of bringing wild land under cultivation and methods best suited to different soils, climates, and crops. The facts included in this bulletin have been gathered by the irrigation investigations of this office, acting in cooperation with the state experiment stations and state engineers' offices.

The bulletin brings out the fact, not well understood, that the cost of preparing land for irrigation is in many instances greater than the cost of building canals and reservoirs. Detailed figures of the cost of checking land show that it varies in certain districts in California from $9.96 to $18.08 per acre. This is more than twice the cost of the canal systems in the San Joaquin Valley, California, which is given in the report of the Census Bureau for 1902 as $4.59 per irrigated acre. Where the preparing of land is contracted for the cost of checking varies from $7.50 to $20 per acre. The price of preparing land for flooding is much less, but is $5 per acre in Wyoming. The need of a better understanding of this particular branch of irrigation practice is becoming more and more important. Reservoirs and canals are but means to accomplish a purpose. That purpose is to increase the productivity of the soil. The value of the ditch or reservoir depends upon the average of land which it will serve and the increase in the value of the products which the use of water will bring about. The time is coming when the most important problems connected with irrigation will be the best means of applying water and not, as at present, those of canal and reservoir building.

About thirty different methods of applying water are now in use. This does not mean that there are thirty distinct systems, but includes the different ways of preparing land by checking, compartments, deep and shallow furrows, flooding, sprinkling and subirrigation. This bulletin gives some of the results of a series of tests of different methods of applying water and the differences in loss of water by evaporation in deep and shallow furrows and in flooding. About one and one-third times as much water was needed to irrigate an acre of land by flooding as was required in furrows 12 inches deep. About one and one-half times as much water was needed to irrigate in furrows 3 inches deep as in furrows 1 foot deep. A saving of one-third of the water by the adoption of a better system would mean not only increased profits to farmers but a large increase in the acreage which could be irrigated from canals or reservoirs.

A FACT PROVEN.

Should Convince Even the Most Skeptical of Its Truth.

If there is the slightest doubt in the minds of any that Dandruff germs do not exist, their belief is compelled by the fact that a rabbit inoculated with the germs became bald in six weeks' time. It must be apparent to any person therefore that the only prevention of baldness in the destruction of the germ which act is successfully accomplished in one hundred per cent. of cases by the application of Newbro's Herpicide. Dandruff is caused by the same germ which causes baldness and can be prevented with the same remedy—Newbro's Herpicide.

SCROFULA

Swollen glands, tumors, whiteswelling, sores, pustular or scaly skin eruptions, flabby muscles, brittle bones, weak digestion, emaciated, ill-nourished bodies, are some of the well-known earmarks of Scrofula. Scrofula is inherited. Parents too closely related by the ties of blood, or tainted with consumption or blood poison, may look for signs of Scrofula in their children. The middle-aged often have it, but children are the chief sufferers. Scrofula breaks down the vital forces, and the blood becomes so weak and poor that it does not nourish the body. The remedy in all scrofulous affections must be one that purifies the diseased blood, builds up the weak digestion, increases the appetite and gives new energy and strength to all life's forces. No medicine has won so much fame as a blood purifier as S. S. S., and its tonic effects upon the system are not equalled by any other remedy. It makes the weak, tainted blood rich and strong, and drives out of the circulation all tubercular deposits and morbid matter that cause the glandular swelling, sores, abscesses, tumors and other horrible swellings that make Scrofula so dreaded and dangerous.

THE ELABORATE BLOUSE COSTUME

The fundamental idea of the shirtwaist costume is evident in this pretty design developed in white foulard with a dotted collar spot in shaded blues, the fluts in the spots ranging from a ciel to a navy blue. The round yoke is defined with a shallow puffing of the foulard edging, a band of stitched silk dotted with velvet-covered buttons. To this band the blouse portion is shifted over cords, falling softly into a fitted and feather-boned bodice. The sleeve is a plain puff moderately full, and an unstanding cuff is fashioned of bouffantes and the button-studded band. The skirt is fashioned with pleated cords, each alternate one being cut short above the knee and a deep shirred "puff" inserted beneath the velvet button trimmed band, this method attaining the required snugness around the hips and the same time affording an extreme of width at the hem.

SHOOTS HIS BROTHER TO PROTECT MOTHER

Drunken Son Threatens to Kill Woman Who Bore Him and Gets Contents of Shotgun.

Rock Falls, Ill., June 20.—To save the life of his mother and self Edward Hardesty, 30 years old, was compelled to shoot down his younger brother George, who, while in a drunken frenzy, threatened to kill both Edward and his mother. The tragedy occurred here about 2 o'clock Sunday morning and has created the wildest sensation throughout this section. George received the contents of a double-barrel shotgun, dying almost instantly. Edward is a prisoner in the jail at Sterling, Ill., pending the coroner's inquest.

According to the story told by Edward and his mother the younger brother, who had been out late attending the street carnival, came home in a drunken condition and at once began a quarrel with his mother. Edward interceded and pleaded with his brother to desist. This, however, seemed only to increase the drunken boy's rage and, drawing a revolver, he threatened to kill both mother and brother. Appeals were in vain and Edward ran upstairs, returning shortly with a shotgun. He commanded George to put away his weapon, but the latter, almost then a raging maniac from drink, drew a knife and lunged at his older brother. With Edward it was his life and his mother's or George's and, quick as a flash, he raised the gun, pulled the trigger, a report followed and George fell to the floor dead.

After realizing what he had done Edward, together with his mother, fell to his brother's side and tried to arouse him, but it was too late. Edward then surrendered himself to the authorities and was placed in jail at Sterling, while friends and neighbors endeavored to soothe the grief-stricken mother.

Edward Hardesty, a contractor and builder, is well known here and bears an excellent reputation. It is generally believed the coroner's inquest will exonerate him. Nothing much is known of the dead brother, who recently returned from the west.
